

QUITCLAIM DEED DISCLAIMER

The attached quitclaim deed form is a type of deed form provided in section 689.025, Florida Statutes.

USE THIS FORM AT YOUR OWN RISK

Every property transaction is different and whether a quitclaim deed is the document needed for your property transaction is something you need to determine for yourself or with the help of an attorney. There is no guarantee that a quitclaim deed is the right instrument for what you are trying to accomplish.

Know that the Clerk's Office is not liable for any negative consequences resulting from the use of this form.

If you have questions about whether a quitclaim deed is the document you need for your property transaction, please consult an attorney. The Clerk of Court is not authorized to provide legal advice.

There are many attorneys that specialize in real property transactions. Resources on the internet may also explain some of the differences between the many types of deeds that can be used for a property transaction, though, of course, none of those resources can substitute for professional legal advice.
